

Communication and Language

Telling their friends and teacher their special things.

Listening to friends' and teacher's questions and then responding.

Listening to the rest of the class talk about their special things and then asking questions.

This is an activity that children can begin at home and complete in school. To get them started, you will want to provide them with a box. They can use the cut-outs on the next page to decorate their box.

Instructions:

Ask the children to take this activity home. Parents, help your child choose five special things to put in their special box. Write on our sheet why each thing is special.

Back at school, the children will ask each other questions about their special things.

The teacher will fill out how it all went.

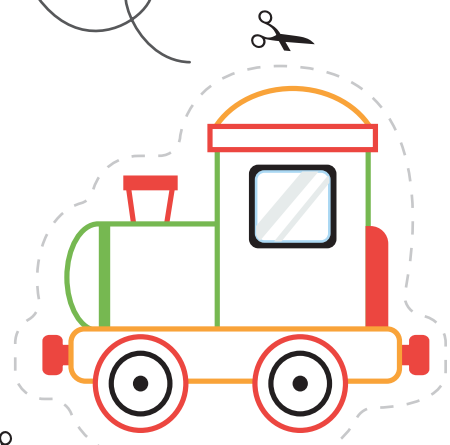

Then children can decorate their box and take it back home.

Your child can display their Five Special Things sheet on their Special Box!
