

Making Bread

Design and Technology Champion further developed their knowledge about design and technology by learning about bread and the different breads across the world. They then successfully made their own bread.

Congratulations!

