

A visit to the Zoo!

You and your friends are going out for the day to the local zoo. Below is a step-by-step account of the attractions that you would like to visit and how long you want to spend at each. To ensure your day is as fantastic as possible you need to make sure that you do not miss any of the amazing attractions. Your task is to produce a timetable of where everybody needs to be and when!

1. You arrive at the park at 9am.
2. It takes you 10 minutes to queue at the entrance and a further 5 minutes to buy a map of the zoo.

What time is it now?

3. It takes you 15 minutes to walk to the lizard enclosure, you take some photos and have a look around for 25 minutes.

What time is it now?

4. You spend 5 minutes walking to the bird sanctuary and watch them for 35 minutes.

What time is it now?

A visit to the Zoo!

5. On your way to the refreshments stand you see the snake enclosure and you decide to investigate. You spend 20 minutes here. You then buy a drink and all have a rest for 10 minutes.

What time is it now?

6. You are all really excited about visiting the lion enclosure. It takes 10 minutes to walk to and you spend 1 hour 15 minutes mesmerised by the animals!

What time is it now?

7. Everybody is really hungry by this point but there is still so much to see so you all decide to stop at the hot dog stand and eat your lunch on the move! Next stop is the Zebras. Lunch and the walk take 30 minutes.

What time is it now?

A visit to the Zoo!

8. You stand and watch the zebras, taking even more photos for 20 minutes. One of your friends gets very excited because they see a giraffe in the next enclosure. As they run off to investigate they trip over and injure themselves. This means a 30 minute diversion for you and your friend to get a plaster from the medical centre.

What time is it now?

9. You only have a couple of hours left before you leave and you still have to see the hippos, penguins and elephants. You spend 40 minutes at each enclosure and walking to them all takes a total of 30 minutes.

What time is it now?

10. You spend 10 minutes buying souvenirs for your family. What time will your parents need to collect you?

A Visit to the Zoo Answers*

For parents eyes only!

1. 9am (given as start time on question sheet)
2. 9.15am
3. 9.55am
4. 10.35am
5. 11.05am
6. 12.30pm
7. 1pm
8. 1.50pm
9. 4.20pm
10. 4.30pm

